TEDDY WARNS AGAINST VOTE TRAFFICKING

Colonel Roosevelt Fears Use of Money at Primaries.

MAKES BID FOR NEGRO VOTE

Tells Them How He Has Fought Their Battle For Enfranchisement and Urges Them to Stand by Their Friends Monday When Maryland Expresses Her Presidential Choice. Taft Invades State Today With New Line of Talk.

Baltimore, May 4.—In his address here Colonel Roosevelt said: "We are going to see senators elected by the people and when we elect them this way the United States senate will cease to be treated as a house for senators of the Lorimer type."

Unbiased observers said that the colonel has the best chance to win Baltimore, and his prospects for capturing the state are good. Charles J. Bonaparte was seated in the center of the state. The colonel spoke later to a crowd of negroes in a church,

"Ask every decent colored man in this state of Maryland to see to it that no colored man sells his vote in this primary on Monday. The man who sells his vote is not only a traitor to himself, but is guilty of high treason to this nation and to the cause of democracy and his race." This was the opening note of Colonel Roosevelt's speech at Salisbury. The town is Democratic. A large share of the Republican vote is negro.

Should Prove Worth.

The colonel told the negroes that he had been fighting for their rights all his life, especially for their enfranchisement, and that if they were worthy of being fought for and wanted to prove themselves deserving of the ballot, let them come out now and turn down dollars for principles in their vote and vote as they wanted to.

The colonel declared that if any man sold his vote in his interest he would take a little more pleasure in clutching him than anyone else. He asserted that he would put him in the penitentiary with just a shade more of joy than another.

The colonel had this to say about Pennsylvania: "I am pleased with the platform of the Pennsylvania Republicans and can not sufficiently congratulate Pennsylvania on having now assumed the position of leadership in the great movement for the real right of the people to rule themselves and for efficiently securing justice and right."

The primary law, an open preference one, is such that Taft or Roosevelt must get all or lose all of the 16 delegates.

TAFT PROGRAM IS NOW FINISHED

President Will Make Two Tours of Ohio.

FIRST BEGINS MONDAY

Will Speak at Athens, Chillicothe and Greenfield on Way to Cincinnati. Will Make Four-Day Campaign in State Later—Many Orators of Prominence Will Come to Buckeye State to Speak in Behalf of the President.

Columbus, O., May 4.—The program for President Taft's Ohio speechmaking campaign contemplates two distinct trips to his home state. His first trip will begin Monday morning, and before he leaves for Washington late in the week he will have made at least a dozen addresses. Later, he will return to spend at least four more days in the state.

President Taft will leave the White House for Ohio Sunday night. His train will leave Parkersburg at 7 o'clock Monday morning and will reach Athens at 8 o'clock, at which place the private car carrying the presidential party will be dropped off and will wait there until noon. During the stay in Athens President Taft will make a speech at a public meeting that has been arranged for the largest meeting place in the city.

Leaves Athens at Noon.

Leaving Athens at noon, he will reach Chillicothe at 2 o'clock, at which place the party will remain until near 6 o'clock, during which time a speech will be made. The private car will be attached to another train at 6 o'clock and the train will be held at Greenfield for a back-platform talk when that city is reached, after which the presidential party

TOWNS ARE ENGULED MISSISSIPPI FLOOD MENACE NOW GREAT

Great Loss of Life Is Feared at Several Points.

New Orleans, May 4.—From the Arkansas line south the situation along the Mississippi river is desperate. There is a general feeling of doom throughout the state. It is conceded that serious crevasses have occurred along the levee, and that there has been heavy loss of life.

The highest dam in the country still holds, but workers there are disheartened and even the federal engineers could not give any word of encouragement. The people are warned to prepare for the worst.

The first break was at Bayou Sara, a town of 700 people. This and St. Francisville, just beyond, with a population of 600, are under water from 10 to 15 feet deep. There are houses close by but it is thought the people escaped.

The people of New Orleans are thoroughly awakened to the gravity of conditions. Several of the city dikes are in a precarious condition and a break would not be a surprise at any time.

The situation in the sugar country continues very grave. Waters from the Torras break are creeping south more slowly than was expected, but nevertheless are engulfing villages.

Fight Was Disappointment.

New York, May 4.—Fight fans who revel in knockouts and gore were dissatisfied with the 10-round bout between Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh, who claims the middleweight championship, and Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, in the Garden. But it was a hard battle, Klaus winning because of his aggressiveness and the power he put into his blows.

Charge Conspiracy Against the Allens Raid on Court

State Tries to Show Allens Planned Raid on Courthouse.

Wytheville, Va., May 4.—The commonwealth in the trial of Floyd Allen, charged specifically with the murder of Prosecutor William M. Foster in the Carroll county court at Hillsville last March, attempted to prove that conspiracy existed between the Allens to shoot up the day morning, and before he leaves for Washington late in the week he will be convicted.

Evidence was given that Sidna Allen, brother of Floyd, and Victor Allen, son of Floyd, were preparing the day before the tragedy to carry this intention into effect, and only the report of a disagreement of the jury on that day prevented the Allen clowns from starting the shooting at that time.

Cyrus Phibbs, a civil engineer, testified that Sidna and Victor Allen had made preparations to begin the shooting on March 13. He said that while the jury was sitting in their places that day to make their return after deliberating on Floyd Allen's case, he saw Sidna and Victor Allen walk to the rear of the bar and reach for their revolvers. When the foreman reported that the jury had failed to reach an agreement, the two men went back to their seats. The day following the jury, after further deliberation, rendered a verdict of guilty, and the shooting began.

Leaves Athens at Noon.

Leaving Athens at noon, he will reach Chillicothe at 2 o'clock, at which place the party will remain until near 6 o'clock, during which time a speech will be made. The private car will be attached to another train at 6 o'clock and the train will be held at Greenfield for a back-platform talk when that city is reached, after which the presidential party

Congressmen Refuse to Pass Bill Reducing Mileage.

Washington, May 4.—The house of representatives declined by an overwhelming majority to cut down the mileage allowance to members. Representative Page of North Carolina introduced an amendment to the pending legislative bill to reduce the mileage from 20 cents a mile to 5 cents. Former Speaker Cannon led the fight against the reduction, declaring the existing rate was barely sufficient to pay the traveling expenses of a representative and his family.

President Taft Keeps Hot on Roosevelt's Trail.

Washington, May 4.—President Taft left Washington early this morning on a speechmaking tour through Maryland. Colonel Roosevelt has been campaigning through that state and the president decided to do as he did in Massachusetts, take the stump and answer the Roosevelt arguments and tell the people exactly what he thinks of the colonel. It is understood the president will have something new to say today in regard to Colonel Roosevelt.

SEES MENACE IN FINANCIAL PROBE MOVE

Secretary of Treasury Warns Congress to Go Slow.

SAYS PANICS NOT NECESSARY

Is Up to People to Decide Whether There Shall Be Repetition of Disaster of 1907, at Which Time New York Financiers Were Drawn Closer Together by Emergency and Have Since Continued to Co-Operate for Mutual Welfare.

Atlantic City, May 4.—Speaking before the New Jersey Bankers Association, Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh gave his opinion for the first time on the inquiry about to be taken by house Democrats into the so-called money trust. Instead of denying that there is a money trust, Secretary MacVeagh surprised his audience by declaring that the present concentration of money power ought to be investigated, but in a calm, intelligent way and without regard to political exigency.

"One of the greatest studies of monetary facts and questions during the last few years," said Mr. MacVeagh, "is the acceptance of the fact that panics are not necessary—that they are a matter of national choice, a preventable disease. And the question is now before the American people in all its plainness and simplicity. Will they continue to have panics or will they choose to abolish them? We might as well refuse to learn the lesson taught by the awful disaster of the Titanic as to refuse to be taught by the disaster of the panic of 1907. It is not intelligent, it is not civilized, to idly dally over such questions."

"The question of the concentration of financial power is a legitimate subject of investigation in connection with the issue of monetary reform."

"The instinct of self-preservation in 1907 gathered together for immediate needs the strongest financial factors in New York, and since then those factors have not flown so far apart as they were before. There has been more cooperation since and the strong financial men of New York are closer together than they used to be. Concurrently, however, with this cooperation for self-protection, there has undoubtedly grown up a concentration of financial power of a more general purpose and operation. The extent of this concentration and its operation and intent will be shown by the committee of congress if its investigation is wise and patient and scientific, and I hope it will be."

Considered by Commission.

Secretary MacVeagh declared that the monetary committee had the question squarely before it whether or not the law should permit ownership by one national bank in another.

"The commission," said Mr. MacVeagh, "has chosen to approve such ownership. This to my mind is a grave and radical mistake. There is no good economic or social reason why one national bank should own another. It is running counter to the public interest. It seems to me to combine national banks together."

Secretary MacVeagh declared that he did not believe that there was much important concentration of banking control as yet outside of New York.

PAPER STRIKE SPREADS

Stereotypers Join Pressmen and Hold Up Chicago Newspapers.

Chicago, May 4.—After one of the most turbulent meetings in the history of union labor in Chicago, the stereotypers employed on the evening papers in Chicago decided to break the contract they made three days ago and to join the striking pressmen and wagon drivers.

There were no morning papers on the newsstands this morning. Brutal assaults on news boys who tried to sell their papers on street corners in the loop marked the progress of the newspaper strike.

Would Recall Convention If Emergency Arises.

Columbus, O., May 4.—President Bigelow is backing a proposal to have the constitutional convention kept alive until the people vote on the amendments, probably late in August.

When the convention completes its labors, he would have it adjourn, subject to call on petition of 25 members, in the event that discussion of the new constitution should develop some glaring fault in any of the proposals passed.

The convention informally postponed action on the short ballot in Junction and separate legislative districts proposals, which were at the head of the calendar. This practically kills these measures.

It spent several hours discussing the Riley proposal giving the state the right to take depositions in criminal cases and the prosecution the right to comment on the silence of a defendant who refuses to take the stand and testify.

SPOOK BOOSTS CLARK.

Topeka, Kan., May 4.—Theodore Roosevelt will be the Republican and Champ Clark the Democratic nominees for president this year, and Champ Clark will be elected. This is the prophecy made by Mrs. Jerry Simpson, widow of the former congressman. Mrs. Simpson is a Spiritualist and has had several interesting talks with the spirit of her husband recently.

The Simple Life of Princess Mary, King George's Daughter

THE only daughter of the king of England is being educated in the old fashioned womanly accomplishments. Her mother is a fine needlewoman, and Princess Mary, it is said, bids fair to equal the queen in this respect. She has never been sent to boarding school, as her mother was, and now that she has reached the age of fifteen it is expected that her education will be completed at home. For several years she has been taking lessons in cooking, and her grandmother, Queen Alexandra, has had her initiated into the art of butter and cheese making at the model dairy, which is one of her pet interests at Sandringham. The little princess, however, has other than domestic interests. She rides and cycles well and is an excellent swimmer, but her favorite outdoor recreation is trout fishing. She is said to be—as she certainly appears—a typical English girl, bright and merry and entirely without affectation.

Class Day Exercises Seniors and Glee Clubs

Delight an Appreciative Audience
In the Rendition of an Attractive Program.

PARTICIPANTS SHOW TRAINING

Reflecting Credit on Instructors
and Proving Their Own Ability.
Memorial Hall Is Packed With Interested Townfolk.

The happy combination of Senior Class day exercises and a Glee club concert proved not only a howling success Friday night, but distinctly a new feature redound to the glory of the class of 1912.

The vaunted musical members of the Glee club would have drawn in itself, but joined with the class exercises, which are always most popular adjuncts of the commencement, the entertainment brought out a splendidly representative audience that taxed the capacity of Memorial hall to the utmost.

The fact that the audience was too large to be accommodated in the small hall soon became painfully apparent. The limited seating capacity compelled many to forego the pleasure of the evening and the level floor and arrangement of seats made seeing and hearing difficult. The temporary dressing rooms and cramped stage was another handicap.

Memorial hall is not constructed for such entertainments and such audiences, and never before has the crying need for proper entertainment quarters in Washington been more forcibly apparent than it was last night.

The only stage decoration was pennants and streamers of the class colors, blue and gold.

James Ballard, president of the class of 1912, introduced the program with a few dignified words emphasizing the fact that the class of 1912 was no exception to the classification of previous classes, "the best ever," and announcing that they wished to achieve further distinction by the purchase of the beautiful statue, "The Winged Mercury," to adorn the new High school's art gallery. The speaker also expressed the gratitude of the class to other classes of the High school and Glee club for their assistance in this project, and the audience for the manifestation of its interest.

The Girls' Glee club sang a brilliant opening number—"A May Morning," I. Denza, followed by a Boys' glee club chorus, "What the Chimney Sang," Parks.

Miss Alice Loofbourrow, a charming class historian, graceful and girlish, presented a bright and interesting class history. Through the various stages of High school progress, Miss Loofbourrow, with quiet humor, brought the class of 1912 to the coming event of its career, graduation.

One of the prettiest numbers of the program was an oboe, "Tis Morn," Gledhill, sung by Misses Ada Woodward, Dorothy Jackson, Dorothy Fullerton, Gladys Locket, Misses Maynard Craig, James McDonald, Robert Cullen, Walter Springer. It was executed.

Mr. Springer's solo, "Norman's Tower," Lohr, was also a marked number, sung with musical feeling and his voice in excellent condition.

The class prophecy proved decidedly a departure. The prophet, Harold Craig, appearing in the garb of a Hindu mystic and revealing to means of the wonderful Hindu crystal the future history of each member of the class. The hall was darkened and from its shadows the soothsayer read his gleaming crystal to the intense delight of his listeners and especially the class. It was a class prophecy so entirely different from anything in the past that it brought forth great applause and the wide range of fates assigned to the 33 members of the class of 1912 reflected most creditably upon the ingenuity of the bright young prophet.

Robert Cullen, class poet, delivered a very good class poem, happy in its sentiment and pleasing in its measure.

The class will, by the class lawyer, Maynard Craig, was a decidedly clever production, sparkling with witty hits and puns. The speaker's fine stage presence and good voice particularly fitted him for his legal role.

and the frequency with which laughter and applause interrupted the reading of the will proved the zest with which the audience and class appreciated the bequests of the Seniors to the oncoming Juniors.

The two Glee clubs interspersed the class exercises with splendidly singing choruses, the volume of tone surprisingly large and fresh, the attack prompt and the expression good. The "Irish Folk Song," was one of the most beautiful of the girls' numbers and the boys' "Shoogy Shoo" song made their biggest hit. All of the Glee club numbers were encores.

Miss Sheen's work in the training and directing of the choruses cannot be given too high encomiums and it is very unusual for High school glee clubs to have the timber of the two which appeared on last night's program.

The accompaniments, which play so important a part in the success of the choruses, were beautifully played by Misses Lillian Davis and Gladys Brakkefield. Both young pianists had given much time and effort to this feature of the concert.

The Senior boys closed the program with effective rendering of the "Senior's Farewell."

Maynard Craig was manager of the Boy's club and Miss Prudence Culkin, manager of the girls'.

Mr. T. A. Smalley kindly furnished the piano.

HAAG SHOW COMING TO WASHINGTON. C. H.

Mammoth Enterprise Will Pitch Tents in Washington C. H. in the Good Old Spring Time.

May 10th is the date fixed when Washington C. H. streets will be crowded with not only local people but people from miles around.

The county swain will be on deck to buy his "yellow haired, freckled face" steeds, the usual amount of "red lemonade and circus peanuts" for it will be circus day. The Mighty Haag Shows will pitch its tents here for one day and the small boy will set up all night to see the show come in. Next day he will be in evidence around the grounds looking for a chance to carry water to elephants in order to get a free pass. The sedate business man will have a well disguised shiver of anticipation, and when he is found wending his way to the show grounds will excuse himself by saying, "I didn't care about the show, but the boy wanted to come." Oh, up, he did not care about the show. Children come in handy occasionally to lay things to.

The rural residents will have figured out long in advance that the 10th of May is just the day that he has important business at Washington, but what's the use? We'll all go, so hurrah for the circus!

Class Day Exercises Seniors and Glee Clubs

Delight an Appreciative Audience
In the Rendition of an Attractive Program.

PARTICIPANTS SHOW TRAINING

Reflecting Credit on Instructors
and Proving Their Own Ability.
Memorial Hall Is Packed With Interested Townfolk.

The happy combination of Senior Class day exercises and a glee club concert proved not only a howling success Friday night, but distinctive a new feature redound to the glory of the class of 1912.

The vaunted musical acumen of the Glee club would have drawn in itself, but joined with the class exercises, which are always most popular adjuncts of the commencement, the entertainment brought out a specially representative audience that taxed the capacity of Memorial hall to the utmost.

The fact that the audience was too large to be accommodated in the small hall soon became painfully apparent. The limited seating capacity compelled many to forego the pleasure of the evening and the level floor and arrangement of seats made seeing and hearing difficult. The temporary dressing rooms and cramped quarters was another handicap.

Memorial hall is not constructed for such entertainments and such audiences, and never before has the crying need for proper entertainment quarters in Washington been more forcibly apparent than it was last night.

The only stage decoration was pennants and streamers of the class colors, blue and gold.

James Baird, president of the class of 1912, introduced the program with a few dignified words emphasizing the fact that the class of 1912 was no exception to the classification of previous classes, "the best ever," and announcing that they wished to achieve further distinction by the purchase of the beautiful statue, "The Winged Mercury," to adorn the new High school's art gallery, the speaker also expressed the gratitude of the class to other classes of the High school and Glee club for their assistance in this project, and the audience for the manifestation of its interest.

The Girls' Glee club sang a brilliant opening number, "A May Morning," L. Qenya, followed by a Boys' Glee club chorus, "What the Chimney Sang," Parks.

Miss Alice Loofbourrow, a charming class historian, graceful and girlish, presented a bright and interesting class history. Through the various stages of High school progress, Miss Loofbourrow, with quiet humor, brought the class of 1912 to the coming event of its career, graduation.

One of the prettiest numbers of the program was an octette, "Tis Morning," Geibel, song by Misses Ada Woodward, Dorothy Paxton, Dorothy Fullerton, Gladys Locke, Moseca, Maynard Craig, James McDonald, Robert Cullen, Walter Springer. It was received.

Mr. Springer's solo, "Norman's Tower," Lohr, was also a marked number, sung with musical feeling and his voice in excellent condition.

The class prophecy proved decidedly a departure, the prophet, Harold Craig, appearing in the garb of a Hindu magician, and revealing by means of the wonderful Hindu crystal the future history of each member of the class. The hall was darkened and from its shadows the soothsayer read his gleaming crystal to the intense delight of his listeners and especially the class. It was a class prophecy so entirely different from anything in the past that it brought forth great applause and the wide range of fates assigned to the 32 members of the class of 1912 reflected most creditably upon the ingenuity of the bright young prophet.

Robert Cullen, class poet, delivered a very good class poem, happy in its sentiment and pleasing in its measure.

The class will, by the class lawyer, Maynard Craig, was a decidedly clever production, sparkling with witty hits and puns. The speaker's fine stage presence and good voice particularly fitted him for his legal role.

and the frequency with which laughter and applause interrupted the reading of the will proved the zest with which the audience and class appreciated the bequests of the Seniors to the oncoming Juniors.

The two Glee clubs interspersed the class exercises with splendidly sung choruses, the volume of tone surprisingly large and fresh, the attack prompt and the expression good. The "Irish Folk Song," was one of the most beautiful of the girls' numbers and the boys' "Shooey Shooey" song made their biggest hit. All of the Glee club numbers were encores.

Miss Sheen's work in the training and directing of the choruses cannot be given too high encomiums and it is very unusual for High school glee clubs to have the timber of the two which appeared on last night's program.

The accompaniments, which play so important a part in the success of the choruses, were beautifully played by Misses Lillian Davis and Gladys Brakefield. Both young pianists had given much time and effort to this feature of the concert.

The senior boys closed the program with effective rendering of the "Senior's Farewell."

Maynard Craig was manager of the Boys' club and Miss Prudence Cuban of the girls.

Mr. J. A. Smalley kindly furnished the piano.

HAAG SHOW COMING TO WASHINGTON, C. H.

Mammoth Enterprise Will Pitch Tents in Washington C. H. in the Good Old Spring Time.

May 10th is the date fixed when Washington C. H. streets will be crowded with not only local people but people from miles around. The county swain will be on deck to buy his "yellow-hair'd, freckled face" steady, the usual amount of "red lemonade and circus peanuts," for it will be circus day. The Mighty Haag Shows will pitch its tents here for one day and the small boy will set up all night to see the show come in.

Next day he will be in evidence around the grounds looking for a chance to carry water to elephants in order to get a free pass. The sedate business man will have a well disguised shiver of anticipation, and when he is found wending his way to the show grounds will excuse himself by saying, "I didn't care about the show, but the boy wanted to come." Oh, no; he did not care about the show. Children come in handy occasionally to lay things to.

Brings Suit For Injunction

The County Commissioners, County Auditor, County Treasurer, and Urban W. Hidy and Kitty Hidy have been made defendants in a suit brought by W. R. Pyley to prevent the construction of a county ditch which touches his farm in Jefferson township, and against whom $100 has been assessed as his share of the costs.

The plaintiff, who is represented by Gregg & Gregg, alleges that Kitty Hidy was the only petitioner, and that Urban Hidy signed both the petition and the bond for her.

He further alleges that Urban Hidy was awarded the contract for constructing the ditch, and that the commissioners failed to make any finding or to determine that the ditch was necessary; that they were without jurisdiction in the matter, as the ditch would benefit his lands in no way.

He asks for a temporary injunction to stop proceedings, and upon final hearing, a perpetual injunction.

Young Man Instantly Killed

Armour Sheridan, aged 18 years, met instant death one day this week while cutting timber on the Thomas Adams' farm a few miles northeast of Cook Station.

The young man and Newton Tope were felling a tree, and in striking the ground the tree fell in such a way that the trunk was whirled violently to one side, striking the youth in the back of the head and breaking his neck. The tree then fell lengthwise across his body.

The remains were shipped over the D. T. & I to Beaver, Jackson county, where interment was made.

Tribute to a Grand Old Woman

BY DOC WADDELL

"All is for the best" were the last words of Elizabeth Holbey, who bent and wrinkled under the stress of 90 odd years, sank into the slumber called death. The end came at the home of her son, Samuel Holbey, 1468 Walsh avenue, Columbus. Story of her life tells the hardships of the old pioneers. She plowed when a girl; she did a man's work in a planing shop after she was married. She virtually spent her life out of doors; she loved, she adored nature. She had only two days' schooling. In her early days learning gathered was meager and the woman pioneer went along handicapped by lack of education. She saw three of her children die of typhoid fever within a few weeks and her husband followed shortly afterward. She was stricken with the same disease but her ruggedness pulled her through. In trying to save her property in a Ross county flood she narrowly escaped drowning; she was rescued in the niche of time. For seven years back sight left her eyes, and her ears almost totally lost the sense of hearing. In spite of all this she was contented and sweetly and patiently lived the life God gave her. She was born in Ross County near Bainbridge, December 20, 1819. Her children surviving are: Elizabeth Cork, of Bainbridge; Mrs. Anna Highmiller and Joseph Holbey, of Springfield; and Samuel Holbey, of Columbus. The end came Thursday May 2nd. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Holbey home in Columbus. The remains were taken by way of Washington C. H. to Bainbridge. Interment was Saturday morning, May 4, on the farm near this old Ross county town, where she lived so many years. The earth she plowed and beautified will clasp her pathetic dust and her dreams of eternity. All who know her abide with the thought: "We loved her living, we love her still."

William Highmiller, of Washington C. H., is a grandson of Mrs. Holbey.

Miss Ethel Bailey is visiting Mrs. Joseph Hecht in Circleville.

Mr. Elly Patch, of Chicago, was the guest of Miss Ella Montgomery Saturday.

Mrs. Will Jefferson, of Bloomingburg, was the guest of Mrs. G. M. Ustick to attend the Senior concert last night, returning home this evening.

Mrs. James Whelpley has returned from the Hudson hospital to her home having entirely recovered from the serious operation of twelve days ago.

Misses Lura and Grace King of Good Hope, were the guests of Misses Ruth and Pearl Parrett for the Senior class day exercises and Glee club concert last night.

Allen Rankin, of Columbus, was the guest of Pitt Fitzgerald to attend last night's concert and to take part in this afternoon's track meet on the North High team.

The Hillsboro Dispatch of Friday announces: "Mrs. Lillie S. Quinn and Kirby Smith went to New York City, Wednesday to sail for Paris, from where they will accompany Miss Anne Quinn home."

Miss Josie Jones, of Bloomingburg, who has been recuperating her health after a major operation at the Hodson hospital for the past three weeks, was able to return to her home today, having made excellent recovery.

The Decatur, Ill., Review contains a complimentary notice of a song recital recently given by the pupils of Prof. Edward Meek, brother of Mrs. E. R. McKee, who is so well known here. The music was rendered by the advanced pupils, the program being of unusual merit, including the song cycle Liza Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden," an adaptation of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. It was regarded as more than a pupil's recital, as the four singers are nearly professional in their accomplishment, and high tribute is given to Professor Meek as their instructor.

The party is now under engagement to render the same program in neighboring cities of Decatur. Prof. Meek will be well remembered in this city, where he formerly had a large vocal class and was generous in the use of his own exceptionally fine voice.

COBURN'S GREATER MINSTRELS

The Macon Telegraph says of that popular minstrel "Joe" Coburn:

"And he's always climbing, climbing, reaching for the top and some fine day he's coming with the best there is in minstrelsy, regardless of expense." We note with pleasure the return engagement of Coburn's Greater minstrels next Monday night at the Empire and that capacity business will greet the big fun show is assured.

Another instance of the hustling quality of this same "Joe" is the fact that he secured the services of Geo. Graff, Jr., and Ernest R. Ball, the New York composers of the great International Peace anthem, "Let Us Have Peace," and other metropolitan successes, to produce the opening ensemble overture of his performance next Monday night.

Everything new, every season for this attraction, spells success for "Joe" and deserves it. Don't miss, "Let Us Have Peace" in the band concert at noon next Monday. A beautiful number. Prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.

Miss Hazel Johnson is the week end's guest of Miss Annette Stafford to attend the Senior Class day exercises last night.

Tribute to a Grand Old Woman

BY DOC WADDELL

"All is for the best" were the last words of Elizabeth Holley, who bent and wrinkled under the stress of 90 odd years, sank into the slumber called death. The end came at the home of her son, Samuel Holley, 1468 Walsh avenue, Columbus. Story of her life tells the hardships of the old pioneers. She plowed when a girl; she did a man's work in a planing shop after she was married. She virtually spent her life out of doors; she loved, she adored nature. She had only two days' schooling. In her early days learning gathered was meager and the woman pioneer went along handicapped by lack of education. She saw three of her children die of typhoid fever within a few weeks and her husband followed shortly afterward. She was stricken with the same disease, but her ruggedness pulled her through. In trying to save her property in a Ross county flood she narrowly escaped drowning; she was rescued in the niche of time. For seven years back sight left her eyes, and her ears almost totally lost the sense of hearing. In spite of all this she was contented and sweetly and patiently lived the life God gave her. She was born in Ross County near Bainbridge, December 20, 1819. Her children surviving are: Elizabeth Cork of Bainbridge; Mrs. Anna Highmiller and Joseph Holley, of Springfield, and Samuel Holley, of Columbus. The end came Thursday, May 2nd. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Holley home in Columbus. The remains were taken by way of Washington C. H. to Bainbridge. Interment was Saturday morning, May 4, on the farm near this old Ross county town, where she lived so many years. The earth she plowed and beautified will clasp her pathetic dust and her dreams of eternity. All who know her abide with the thought: "We loved her living, we love her still."

William Highmiller, of Washington C. H., is a grand-son of Mrs. Holley.

COBURN'S GREATER MINSTRELS

The Marion Telegraph says that popular minstrel "Joe" Coburn

"And he's always climbing, climbing, reaching for the top and some fine day he's coming with the best there is in minstrelsy, regardless of expense." We note with pleasure the return engagement of Coburn's Greater minstrels next Monday night at the Empire and that capacity business will greet the big fun show is assured.

Another instance of the hustling quality of this same "Joe" is the fact that he secured the services of Geo. Graff, Jr. and Ernest R. Ball, the New York composers of the great International Peace anthem, "Let Us Have Peace," and other metropolitan successes, to produce the opening ensemble overture of his performance next Monday night.

Everything new, every season for this attraction spells success for "Joe" and deserves it. Don't miss, "Let Us Have Peace" in the band concert at noon next Monday. A beautiful number. Prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.

Miss Hazel Johnson is the week end's guest of Miss Annette Stafford to attend the Senior Class day exercises last night.

FIXING THE STREETS.

Washington people are exceedingly pleased to see that long-needed and long-hoped-for work of cleaning up and patching up some of the worst chuck holes, ruts and gulleys on the city streets, has at last begun.

Our streets need a great deal in the way of repairs—in fact most of them need rebuilding entirely, but our citizens all realize that municipal finances are a sore puzzle nowadays to the officials and to have available more than enough money to pay actual running expenses is a condition which has not existed for a long time.

Very sensibly, it being impossible to rebuild the streets or repair them in the way which insures a permanently better condition, the authorities are doing the best that can be done under the circumstances, tidying up a bit and filling the holes with gravel.

While not the best this work will help some.

We live in hope that the time may soon come when the state of Ohio will be blessed with some practical working system of laws for gathering the public revenue under which municipalities of the state can be made self-sustaining under which the people who bear the burdens of taxation may receive a fair share of return in the shape of municipal conveniences and comforts.

Just as soon as "practical politicians" are dismissed from the places where laws are made and from the places where the public revenues are expended and the public business conducted on the same principles as private business, then conditions will be better, but not before.

When that happy time comes fortunate people who own automobiles or horses and carriages, can drive along the streets of almost any city at moderate speed without being tied onto their seats.

Until then we must do the best that can be done and be thankful that it is possible to clean some of the streets and fill up a few of the worst holes and gulleys.

We, of Washington, should be thankful that our affairs are not in as bad conditions as they are in some other cities of the state. Thankful for the good in these present conditions we are yet in shape to welcome improved conditions.

Man's four duties, according to Sterne, are to build a house, to plant a tree, to write a book and to have a son.

Being a son of God, according to Scripture, a man is never so happy as when he is at some God-like business.

God's peculiar business is that of making. He not only made things of nothing, but he is continually at the making of one thing out of another.

If we inquire into God's present activities, as far as our poor brains can guess, we perceive him to be, first, a farmer or gardener. Hence I reckon farming to be not only the noblest of occupations, but also I think there is no diviner satisfaction than tending a plant and seeing it grow.

Then he is a carpenter, though he makes world's and not cottage, and makes round and not square things. He is presumably a house-maker, and the humblest spider spins his web in imitation of him who spins a universe for his habitation.

He is also an author. I have seen his manuscript in the layered rock, read his poetry in men and women and looked in awe at his pictures in the setting sun.

And, fourthly, he is a father. There is no more God-like joy than to hold in your arms a baby of your own body, and to look into little eyes that reflect your soul.

The most medieval notion of God is that he is an idle king, doing nothing.

Women Are at Fault If Home Life Isn't Ideal

By MRS. GABRIELLE S. MULLINER, Lawyer and Suffragist

WHEN A MAN MARRIES A WOMAN HE PAYS HER THE HIGHEST COMPLIMENT IT IS IN HIS POWER TO GIVE. HE WANTS HER FOR HIS COMPANION THROUGH LIFE. SHE IS AT THAT TIME HIS IDEAL. IF THE TIME EVER COMES WHEN HE INSULTS HER SOMEHOW SHE HAS FAILED TO KEEP THAT IDEAL ALIVE.

Let us decide what an insult is. It isn't a hasty word struck off from tired nerves as a shower of sparks flies from a passing engine and goes out in smoke. The man who says these hasty words isn't speaking them consciously to his wife. He is HURLING HIS IMPATIENCE WITH THE DAY'S AFFAIRS, HIS WEARINESS AND DISCOURAGEMENT, AT THE NEAREST OBJECT. It might be his office assistant, or the subway guard, or the street car conductor. But it happens to be his wife because at the moment of the explosion she happens to be nearest. She should PARDON THIS OUTBREAK and take it at its true meaning, which is nothing.

IF A MAN IS WORTH MARRYING HE IS WORTH MUCH THOUGHT AND ATTENTION.

Poetry-Today

THE UNRECOVERED.

We ride with the ice-floe cold and stark.
Our eyes are staring on light and dark.
Our cries were hushed by the freezing breath.

Which bore us along in the wake of death?

The doomed from a maiden voyage are we,

Riding South to an open sea.

Lashed to a raft or a splinter of spar,
(Mother and child, how cold we are!)
The waters have ended each earthly life.

But not the union of husband and wife;

Loving and gallant and lost are we;
Riding south to an open sea.

The tempest follows a lonely fleet.
The fog steals down with a winding sheet;

A passing ship gives a shuddering cry.

And leaps from our ghostly company.
Gentlefolk, strangers and stokers are we,

Finding together an open sea.

We beckon no more, for our souls have rest.

While our bodies float on the sea's bright breast;

But these mute lips pray as we glide along.

For the anguished hearts in the mourning throng;

Loving and unforgetting are we,

Riding Eternity's open sea.

Produces Four-Leafed Clover

After 19 years of patient experiment, Max Schilling, a New York florist and botanist, has produced a clover plant that produces four leaves upon every stem. The announcement is made with a flourish and pictures of the new clover are published in the newspapers.

Unless he is ambitious to destroy the four-leaf clover it is difficult to imagine why Mr. Schilling should have spent 19 years tinkering with three-leaf plant to make it produce four. Surely it cannot be held that any good luck will be brought to the individual who buys the seed of a clover plant that produces four leaves in every instance and raises a field of it.

Hunting four-leaf clover has been a popular springtime pastime of nearly every Jack and his Jill, and a vacant lot or over a sidewalk not used sufficiently to be kept free of volunteer growths has provided the scene of the hunt. Four-leaf clover in pots, or flats, or fields, may have the guaranteed four leaves. But unless it is good hay or pasture for cattle and horses, of what interest can it be to mankind?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bankrupt City
Involved in Suit

Xonita, virtually bankrupt and with apparently no means of raising money to meet her electric light bill, has been sued by the electric light company for $1,500.12 for lighting the streets during the months of March and April.

The City Solicitor, in filing his answer to the suit, says there is no money in the Service fund, no money in other funds available, and that the city cannot issue bonds to create a fund for payment of the claim as if bonds were issued they could not be paid and the interest could not be paid.

The result in Xonita is being watched with deep interest by her sister cities all over the state who have been placed in financial straits by the famous Smith one per cent law.

Two New Coins
Almost Sure

The bill introduced by Representative Bulkley, of the Twenty-first District, to provide for the coining of three-cent pieces was Wednesday favorably reported to the House by the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures. The bill will soon be taken up by the House and the likelihood is that it will be passed. It also provides for the strong endorsement of Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh and of Director Roberts of the Mint. Mr. MacVeagh declares there is an urgent demand for both of these coins. He points out that not only are department stores desirous of having half-cent pieces placed in circulation, but there is also a request for them on the part of slot-machine manufacturers.

It is pointed out that there are a number of articles that are sold in slot machines for which it is necessary to charge a cent because there is no smaller coin, while the demand for them would be greater if the price were reduced.

If the bill passes the complexion of the one-cent piece will be changed instead of being copper colored, both the one and the three-cent will resemble a nickel in color, and they will consist of 75 per cent copper and 25 per cent nickel.

The three-cent piece will be similar in size to the old three-cent piece which went out of circulation 25 years ago.

Class Day Exercises Seniors and Glee Clubs

Delight an Appreciative Audience
In the Rendition of an Attractive Program.

PARTICIPANTS SHOW TRAINING

Reflecting Credit on Instructors
and Proving Their Own Ability.
Memorial Hall Is Packed With Interested Townfolk.

The happy combination of Senior Class day exercises and a Glee club concert proved not only a howling success Friday night, but distinctively a new feature resounding to the glory of the class of 1912.

The vaunted musical acumen of the Glee club would have drawn in itself, but joined with the class exercises, which are always most popular adjuncts of the commencement, the entertainment brought out a splendidly representative audience that taxed the capacity of Memorial hall to the utmost.

The fact that the audience was too large to be accommodated in the small hall soon became painfully apparent. The limited seating capacity compelled many to forego the pleasure of the evening and the level floor and arrangement of seats made seeing and hearing difficult. The temporary dressing rooms and cramped stage was another handicap.

Memorial hall is not constructed for such entertainments and such audiences, and never before has the crying need for proper entertainment quarters in Washington been more forcibly apparent than it was last night.

The only stage decoration was pennants and streamers of the class colors, blue and gold.

James Ballard, president of the class of 1912, introduced the program with a few dignified words emphasizing the fact that the class of 1912 was no exception to the classification of previous classes, "the best ever," and announcing that they wished to achieve further distinction by the purchase of the beautiful statue, "The Winged Mercury," to adorn the new High school's art gallery, the speaker also expressed the gratitude of the class to other classes of the High school and Glee club for their assistance in this project, and the audience for the manifestation of its interest.

The Girls' Glee club sang a brief half opening numbers "A May Morning," L. Q. Jones, followed by a Boys' Glee club chorus "What the Chimney Sang," Parks.

Miss Alice Loosbourrow, a charming class historian, graceful and girlish, presented a bright and interesting class history. Through the various stages of High school progress, Miss Loosbourrow, with quiet humor brought the class of 1912 to the coming event of its career, graduation.

One of the prettiest numbers of the program was an octette, "Tis Morn," directed, sung by Misses Ada Wood, Dorothy Gaston, Dorothy Fullerton, Gladys Lueke, Messes Maynard Craig, James McDonald, Robert Cullen, Walter Springer. It was encored.

Mr. Springer's solo, "Norman's Tower," Lohr, was also a marked number, sung with musical feeling and his voice in excellent condition.

The class prophecy proved decidedly a departure, the prophet, Harold Craig, appearing in the garb of a Hindu magician, and reciting by means of the wonderful Hindu crystal the future history of each member of the class. The hall was darkened and from its shadows the soothsayer read his gleaning crystal to the intense delight of his listeners and especially the class. It was a class prophecy so entirely different from anything in the past that it brought forth great applause and the wide range of fates assigned to the 38 members of the class of 1912 reflected most creditably upon the ingenuity of the bright young prophet.

Robert Cullen, class poet, delivered a very good class poem, happy in its sentiment and pleasing in its measure, blue and gold.

The class will, by the class lawyer, Maynard Craig, was a decidedly clever production, sparkling with witty hits and puns. The speaker's fine stage presence and good voice particularly fitted him for his legal role.

Robert Cullen, class poet, delivered a very good class poem, happy in its sentiment and pleasing in its measure, blue and gold.

James Ballard, president of the class of 1912, introduced the program with a few dignified words emphasizing the fact that the class of 1912 was no exception to the classification of previous classes, "the best and the frequency with which laughter and applause interrupted the reading of the will proved the zest with which the audience and class appreciated the bequests of the Seniors to the oncoming Juniors.

The two Glee clubs interspersed the class exercises with splendidly sang choruses, the volume of tone surprisingly large and fresh, the attack prompt and the expression good. The "Irish Folk Song," was one of the most beautiful of the girls' numbers and the boys' "Shooey Shoo" song made their biggest hit. All of the Glee club numbers were encores.

Miss Sheen's work in the training and directing of the choruses cannot be given too high encomiums and it is very unusual for High school glee clubs to have the timbre of the two which appeared on last night's program.

The accompaniments, which play so important a part in the success of the choruses, were beautifully played by Misses Lillian Davis and Gladys Brakfeld. Both young pianists had given much time and effort to this feature of the concert.

The senior boys closed the program with effective rendering of the "Senior's Farewell."

Maynard Craig was manager of the boy's club and Miss Prudence Cullen of the girls.

Mr. J. A. Smalley kindly furnished the piano.

HAAG SHOW COMING TO WASHINGTON, C. H.

Mammoth Enterprise Will Pitch Tents in Washington C. H. in the Good Old Spring Time.

May 10th is the date fixed when Washington C. H. streets will be crowded with not only local people, but people from miles around. The county swain will be on deck to buy his "yellow-hair, freckled face" steady, the usual amount of "red lemonade and circus peanuts," for it will be circus day. The Mighty Haag Shows will pitch its tents here for one day and the small boy will set up all night to see the show come in.

Next day he will be in evidence around the grounds looking for a chance to carry water to elephants in order to get a free pass. The sedate business man will have a well disguised shiver of anticipation, and when he is found wending his way to the show grounds will excuse himself by saying, "I didn't care about the show, but the boy wanted to come." Oh, no, he did not care about the show. Children come in handy occasionally to lay things to.

The rural residents will have figured out long in advance that the 10th of May is just the day that he has important business at Washington, but what's the use? Well all go, so hurrah for the circus!

The rural residents will have figured out long in advance that the 10th of May is just the day that he has important business at Washington, but what's the use? Well all go, so hurrah for the circus!

President Taft, in making his three days' campaign in Ohio next Monday Tuesday and Wednesday, may appear here, or if not next week, then about May 15th. Plans will be known Monday.

President Taft will be in Greenfield Monday evening at five o'clock, and a large number of auto loads from this city are expected to attend. He will speak from the steps of the Town hall in Greenfield if the weather permits, and if not, he will speak in the town hall.

Brings Suit
For Injunction

The County Commissioners, County Auditor, County Treasurer and Urban W. Hidy and Kitty Hidy have been made defendants in a suit brought by W. R. Plyer to prevent the construction of a county ditch which touches his farm in Jefferson township, and against whom $100 has been assessed as his share of the costs.

The plaintiff, who is represented by Gregg & Gregg, alleges that Kitty Hidy was the only petitioner, and that Urban Hidy signed both the petition and the bond for her.

He further alleges that Urban Hidy was awarded the contract for constructing the ditch, and that the commissioners failed to make any finding, or to determine that the ditch was necessary, that they were without jurisdiction in the matter, as the ditch would benefit his lands in no way.

He asks for a temporary injunction to stop proceedings, and upon final hearing, a perpetual injunction.

Young Man
Instantly Killed

Armour Sheridan, aged 18 years, met instant death one day this week while cutting timber on the Thomas Adams' farm a few miles northeast of Cook Station.

The young man and Newton Tope were felling a tree, and in striking the ground the tree fell in such a way that the trunk was whirled violently to one side, striking the youth in the back of the head and breaking his neck. The tree then fell lengthwise across his body.

The remains were shipped over the D. T. & I. to Beaver, Jackson county, where interment was made.

are mosquitoes. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fits of fever. The appetite fails and the strength fails; also malaria often paves the way for deadly typhoid.

But Electric Bitters kill and cast out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a fine appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "three bottles

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, May 4, 1912.

Up to the present writing there has been nothing discouraging in any feature of the work of the Cincinnati team. The crew that Manager O'Day is piloting hitherto and you seems to be made up of good hitters, speedy base runners, strong throwers, better than the average pitchers and generally intelligent and well conducted athletes. During the three weeks that the season has been on, O'Day's blasters have succeeded in reversing the opinion that was held on them during the winter months, and they are now looked upon as one of the best drawing cards on the road, as they certainly have been at home. The fact that practically the same team that finished in sixth place last season is doing the surprising work this spring would indicate that the credit for the result rests with the manager, who seems to have the boys interested as they were never interested before, and who has succeeded in instilling an amount of energy, intelligence and confidence into the men that hitherto has been sadly lacking. It is reasonable to expect even better performances when the real team work develops, and while no claim will be made for position, it is certain that the Reds will offer their patrons a higher class of base ball as the season progresses than local fans have witnessed in some years.

With the possible exception of the Chicago, the Reds have the strongest outfield in the National League this year and there are some experts who will favor O'Day outer guard over that of Chance. In Bescher, Bates and Mitchell the team has three gardeners who are stars in every department of play. In base running, hitting, fielding, throwing and general intelligent work these men get better results than any of the other outfield combinations in the National—always excepting in some minds the Chicago Cubs. Some extremely sensational stunts have already been performed by the Reds' outfielders this season and as the warm weather sets in, improvements will be noted. The Reds are looking up a great thing for the fight game in strong in all departments, but in New York to have a man of Mr. McLean's integrity and reputation with Marsans in reserve.

Up to the present time the Reds have won a majority of the games from every team they have met. That in itself is a record to be proud of, even though the season is only three weeks old. And in none of these series has there been an unusual amount of "luck" to the side of O'Day's men. On the contrary, they have had some exceedingly bad breaks, but usually have managed to overcome this additional handicap and win out in the face of discouraging conditions.

All the games played by the Reds up to the present time have been against the Western teams, which are rated as a sectional division, as stronger than the Eastern teams. How great that difference is—if it exists at all—will be shown beginning next week, when the Eastern teams come for their first invasion of the West. The Phillies, still somewhat crippled, will be the Reds' first Eastern opponents. They will be followed by the Brooklyns, who will be the first Eastern team to show on Sunday, their Sabbath engagement being for May 10. Boston follows the Dodgers with New York winding up the series. Their games including the formal dedication of the new stand on May 18, and a Sunday game on May 19. And after this visit it will not be so hard to pick the first division teams.

Now comes Jim Corbett with the announcement that he hasn't been able to figure as yet that Jim Flynn, the Puchle fireman, is going to tick Jack Johnson in their fight on July 4, even though Jim Corbett will be one of Flynn's trainers. Corbett brings out the fact that Flynn in the past has surrendered to Johnson, and that there is no particular evidence that he has come forward in the past few months. Jack Curley, Flynn's manager, seems confident his man will win, claiming that Johnson has gone back much while Flynn has greatly improved. However, both men will have to prove that Curley is right in his estimate before he will be believed.

"If you can show me a better outfield than Carey, Donlin and Wilson, I'll buy," says Fred Clarke, the Priter's manager.

Clark Griffith has his eye on Tal Pendleton, the brilliant football player and speedy shortstop of the Princeton baseball team.

"If St. Louis could buy Lajoie for $10,000 he would more than earn the purchase price back for them in ten days," says Hughie Jennings.

President Comiskey, of the White Sox, has promised his team a training trip to California in the spring of 1915, the year of the Panama exposition.

Big Bill James, the Cleveland pitcher, has the biggest hand of any player in the major league. A baseball look like a pea in the giant's hand

What a list of familiar names is now found among the race track graveyards, and how strange sound the cognomens of the so-called "live ones." No more does one hear the caller in the poolrooms inform the waiting betters that "They're off" at Saratoga, Gravesend, Jamaica Bay, Sheepshead Bay, Aqueduct, Belmont, Hawthorne, St. Louis, New Orleans, Memphis, Little Rock, San Francisco, Oakland, or the other famous tracks that once did flourish, but are no more. Latonia, Louisville, Lexington, Fort Erie and Windsor have a familiar sound, but Butte, Conner d' Alene, Hamilton, Oklahoma City, Lagoon, Utah, and Anaconda don't listen so

The struggle in the American association for the championship pennant is already over according to the claims of the various managers, as given below:

Hugh Duffy: It's a cinch.

Joe Cantillon: The flag is already pinned to my piano.

Jack Tighe: Really, it's a shame to take it.

Jimmy Burke: After deep thought and careful consideration I can freely predict that the A. A. championship banner will float in Indianapolis next fall.

Charles Carr: There's nothing to it but the blues. The flag has already been ordered from my sporting goods house.

Topsy Hartsel: My Mack style of battle will cop for sure.

Mike Kelley: Ditto, only more emphatic.

Bill Friel: The same.

Rival in Points.

Certain cities overshadow all rivals in certain departments of play. Greater New York, as a starter, is well fixed for first basemen, with Chase, Daubert and Merkle. Boston can boast of two staunch outfielders in Specker, Hooper and Lewis of the Red Sox, with Miller, Campbell and Jackson of the Braves. Chicago has always stood high with catchers in Sullivan and Archer. And Philadelphia has the Athletics.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

The St. Louis Browns send Pitcher Hawk back to Burlington.

Birmingham has released Charles Bell, a recruit, to Chillicothe, O.

The veteran Happy Jim Crandall will play the outfield with Oshkosh.

Stahl, Davis, Callahan and Griffith, all in new berths, are making good with a rush.

St. Paul has sold its giant catcher, Hub Dawson, to the Beaumont club of the Texas league.

Joe Ralby, last season manager of the Zanesville team, has been given his unconditional release.

Charles B. Smith will manage the New Castle team of the Ohio-Pennsylvania league for Owner Leist.

Veteran Jack Warner says Amos Ritter had more puzzling curves and better control than Rube Marquard.

Manager Wallace of the Browns has sent a recruit first baseman named Miller to Lowell, along with Wolfgang and Magee.

"If you can show me a better outfield than Carey, Donlin and Wilson, I'll buy," says Fred Clarke, the Priter's manager.

A Grand Old Woman

BY DOC WADDELL

"All is for the best" were the last words of Elizabeth Holbey, who bent and wrinkled under the stress of 90 odd years, sank into the slumber called death. The end came at the home of her son, Samuel Holbey, 1168 Walsh avenue, Columbus. Story of her life tells the hardships of the old pioneer. She plowed when a girl; she did a man's work in a planing shop after she was married. She virtually spent her life out of doors; she loved; she adored nature. She had only two days' schooling. In her early days learning gathered was meager and the woman pioneer went along handicapped by lack of education. She saw three of her children die of typhoid fever within a few weeks and her husband followed shortly afterward. She was stricken with the same disease, but her ruggedness pulled her through. In trying to save her property in a Ross county flood she narrowly escaped drowning; she was rescued in the niche of time. For seven years back sight left her.

COBURN'S GREATER MINSTRELS

The Macon Telegraph says that popular minstrel "Joe" Coburn.

"And he's always climbing, climbing, reaching for the top and some fine day he's coming with the best there's in minstrelsy, regardless of expense." We note with pleasure the return engagement of Coburn's Greater minstrels next Monday night at the Empire and that capacity business will greet the big fun show is assured.

Another instance of the hustling quality of this same "Joe" is the fact that he secured the services of Geo. Graff, Jr. and Ernest R. Ball, the New York composers of the great International Peace anthem, "Let Us Have Peace," and other metropolitan successes, to produce the opening ensemble overture of his performance next Monday night.

Everything new, every season for this attraction spells success for "Joe" and deserves it. Don't miss "Let Us Have Peace" in the band concert at noon next Monday. A beautiful number. Prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.

Dangerously Injured In Dynamite Explosion

Young Man Using Dynamite in Removing Hedge Fence Fails to Get Beyond Danger---Accident Occurs in Paint Township.

What may terminate in a fatal accident occurred on the N. S. Tway farm one mile northwest of Yatesville late Thursday evening, when Henry Hakes, a young man living near Sedalia, was dangerously injured by a charge of dynamite exploding before he succeeded in reaching a safe distance.

Hakes, assisted by other men, was engaged in removing hedge fence by the aid of dynamite, and he had "planted" two charges of the explosive, each charge having a short fuse. In lighting them the first fuse ignited at once but he experienced some delay in firing the second fuse. He just started to get away when the first charge exploded, throwing him into the air.

Young Hakes fell in a heap, and to the great horror of his companions the second charge exploded within a few feet of the unconscious man, throwing earth and pieces of the hedge upon him.

When his companions rushed to his assistance they found him unconscious and his face cut and bruised in a shocking manner. All aid possible was rendered until a physician arrived and took charge, restoring the young man to consciousness and dressing his wounds.

The young man was later removed to his home, where at last reports he was suffering intensely. Besides his face being lacerated, both eyes were swollen shut and blood poison is feared.

If tetanus does not develop he will probably recover within a short time.

SALARY IS GRANTED FOR HUMANE OFFICER

A number of members of the Fayette County Humane Society appeared before the County Commissioners Saturday morning, asking for an appropriation of $25 per month for the Humane officer's salary, the statute providing that the minimum sum be that amount.

Prosecuting Attorney Pope Gregg, who is also attorney of the Humane Society, presented the matter to the Commissioners, who were in sympathy with the movement, but owing to lack of funds it was eventually asked that $15 be granted for the present, and this was done. Following the passage of a resolution granting the $15 per month, each of the Commissioners voluntarily contributed the $1 necessary to become members, and secured membership cards, expressing their hearty approval of the splendid principles for which the society stands.

Others present also became members and the society now has over 30 members.

Work For The Women

In the years to come more such leaders as Clara Barton may and probably will arise in the field of nursing and of succoring suffering humanity. But let no one imagine that this sphere is to bound the activities of women of talent. Nursing will remain particularly woman's work, but not her only work.

Already the women who stand out in the public eye are bulking large in other fields. Miss Addams, the leader in social righteousness; Miss Tarbell whose keen pen has so splendidly exposed economic wrongdoing; Miss Shaw, who has spoken and rallied in every state for the enfranchisement of women, are among the foremost products of our changing economic and social conditions that affect women. Who shall measure Miss Addams' contributions to the moral growth of the republic?

And who is so short sighted as not to see that those women are but pioneers? The whole great field of social endeavor now opened up by what is called the socialized conscience of the day, spells opportunity for women. Undreamed realms for service are being explored.

What more natural than in years to come the ministering leadership will fall more and more into the hands of those of Clara Barton's sex.

Even in Europe the old order passes over night with surprising speed. In Brussels the diplomatic world is a-flutter because of the arrival of the Diseased Cattle Driven Into This City and Shipped From B. & O. Stock Pens---Said to Belong to Fayette County Man---An Investigation Is on Foot.

Quite a number of persons visited the B. & O. stock pens Friday afternoon to view three cattle which were confined there, and considerable indignation was expressed over the selling of such animals as those in the pens which were to be shipped to some unknown point Saturday.

All three animals were decidedly "skinny" and it was plain that two of them were diseased, while the third, a bull, was infirm from age and lack of proper attention.

One of the steers was reported to have "lump jaw" and the lump was unusually large and had swollen until it had bursted. Its condition can Simpson says he will die before he will work on contracts. He took an oath in the presence of Deputy Wood under the Gould administration to this effect.

Wooster, O., May 4.—During the present week a dozen or more of the young women of Holden Hall, University of Wooster, have been very ill with ptomaine poisoning. The cause is a mystery, and as the matron is positive that the poison was not contained in any food that was served, there is a belief that the poisoning may have come from the water. A thorough investigation is being made.

first woman diplomat. A doctor of the University of Montevideo, Senator Luis, is now properly accredited by the government of Uruguay to the courts of Belgium, for the purpose of reporting particularly the scientific progress in Europe. Who could have foretold in 1861 a woman diplomat, and remained at large? To be immured within the walls of her home for life was then by universal consent a woman's destiny. That Miss Barton left hers to do a man's work, when no man was ready to take it up, was excusable only because she chose to move among the sick, the wounded and the dying. Today woman is free to minister as well to those of sound bodies and sound minds, to penetrate the inner mysteries of science, like Marie Curie, to strive in almost any field in which her fancy takes her, and be certain of success if she has but half the measure of the heroic qualities that so endeared Clara Barton to countrymen and country women alike.—Springfield Republican.

Taft Program Now Finished

will go to Cincinnati.

It is the plan of President Taft to remain in Cincinnati until Wednesday morning, when he will start back on his trip to Washington. He will make the return trip over another route and will make half a dozen speeches during the day. The route has not yet been selected and the dates have not been prepared.

The president will visit Youngstown and Toledo and other places later in the month. The general plan is that his second tour of the state is to last four days, during which he will travel on a special train and cover as much territory as possible and care for as many out-of-door meetings as can be arranged.

Plans have been completed for bringing into Ohio as Taft spokesmen Senator Elihu Root of New York, Senator W. O. Bradley of Kentucky, Senator Townsend of Michigan, Secretary of State Knox, Representative Phil Campbell of Kansas, Job Hedges of New York and others of national repute. Ohio will respond with oratory in the next few weeks.

BELIEFS OF NATIVES Will Enlarge

Mysterious Ceremony of Ju-Ju in West Africa.

Blacks Worship Smallpox Victims and Even Put Their Faces Against Patient to Obtain the Desired Scars.

Cape Colony, Africa.—Fetish travellers in West Africa are unashamedly struck by the curious terms of worship adopted by the superstitious natives. They illustrate the truth of the statement that every human being acknowledges in his heart some sort of worship to a deity, but the varieties in the dark continent are queer indeed.

Take a stroll through any African town or village and you will notice a score of little thatched huts with mud floors, on which are thrown a heap of ordinary stones. These huts are the fetish houses to which the natives go and solace and ask their gods for various blessings after leaving offerings of beads, yams and nuts.

In some parts of Africa they even worship smallpox. The natives treat the infected patient with great reverence and even rub their faces on his body to obtain the desired scars. European administrators naturally regard this form of worship sternly. Only the other day a chief was suspended for having encouraged it.

The belief the native has in the efficiency of ju-ju or witchcraft is touching in the extreme. Take the case of a man who believes his wife is not as faithful to him as she should be. He promptly proceeds to the witch doctor, and on payment of a fee varying in amount according to the required severity of the spell, requests that a ju-ju shall be put on his hated rival. When one of these rivals dies—dies from a dose of ground glass or the thousand and one ways in which the crime can be committed out there—the triumphant lover exclaims: "Ha! See the power of the ju-ju," and the witch doctor adds more kudos to his reputation.

Fetish ceremonies, too, are carried out with the strictest regard to the appeasing of the gods. Supposing a man dies out in the bush, his comrade strap his corpse to a log and hold it on the head of one of their number, who leads them in procession to his home with much beating of tom-toms and yelling, while another native runs in front, calling the feathers out of a live chicken and scattering them broadcast. Arrived at the dead man's hut, the body is buried under the door, and all the relations and friends come in and drink gin and feast in a beastly orgy for as many nights as the family has money to last. The Gwinna Milling Company, of Columbus, has just awarded a contract for the erection of a new 500,000 barrel grain elevator on a lot adjoining the company's plant on East Main street, Columbus.

The new elevator will cost approximately $100,000 and its erection is due to the extraordinary success of the company's business in the past year.

It is planned that in case of a wheat shortage the capacity of the plant would be sufficient to tide over the crisis and not cause the mills to close down.

The Gwinna company has been running at full capacity for a long time. Mr. O. F. Rossing, who owns the plant, formerly conducted the Washington Milling Company's plant here.

Comment and Gossip in Sport

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, May 4, 1912.

Up to the present writing there has been nothing discouraging in any feature of the work of the Cincinnati team. The crew that Manager O'Day is piloting hitherto, and you, seems to be made up of good hitters, speedy base runners, strong throwers, better than the average pitchers and generally intelligent and well conducted athletes. During the three weeks that the season has been on, O'Day's hustlers have succeeded in reversing the opinion that was held on them during the winter months, and they are now looked upon as one of the best drawing cards on the road, as they certainly have been at home. The fact that practically the same team that finished in sixth place last season is doing the surprising work this spring would indicate that the credit for the result rests with the manager, who seems to have the boys interested as they were never interested before, and who has succeeded in instilling an amount of energy, intelligence and confidence into the men that heretofore has been sadly lacking. It is reasonable to expect even better performances when the real team work develops, and while no claim will be made for position, it is certain that the Reds will offer their patrons a higher class of base ball as the season progresses than local fans have witnessed in some years.

With the possible exception of the Chicago, the Reds have the strongest outfield in the National League this year—and there are some experts who will favor the O'Day outer guard over that of Chance. In Bescher, Bates and Mitchell the team has three gardeners who are stars in every department of play. In base running, hitting, fielding, throwing and general intelligent work these men get better results than any of the other outfield combinations in the National—always excepting in some minds, the Chicago Cubs. Some extremely sensational stunts have already been performed by the Reds' outfielders this season and as the warm weather sets in, improvements will be noted. The Reds are looming up strong in all departments, but, in none more so than in the suburban patrols—Bescher, Bates and Mitchell with Marsans in reserve.

Up to the present time the Reds have won a majority of the games from every team they have met. That in itself is a record to be proud of, even though the season is only three weeks old. And in none of these series has there been an unusual amount of "luck" go to the side of O'Day's men. On the contrary, they have had some exceedingly bad breaks, but usually have managed to overcome this additional handicap and win out in the face of discouraging conditions. All the games played by the Reds up to the present time have been against the Western teams, which are rated, as a sectional division, as stronger than the Eastern teams. How great that difference is—if it exists at all—will be shown beginning next week, when the Eastern teams come for their first invasion of the West. The Phillies, still somewhat crippled, will be the Reds' first Eastern opponents. They will be followed by the Brooklyns, who will be the first Eastern team to show on Sunday, their Sabbath engagement being for May 10. Boston follows the Dodgers, with New York winding up the series four games including the formal dedication of the new stand on May 18, and a Sunday game on May 19. And after this visit it will not be so hard to pick the first division teams.

FLAG WON BY EIGHT LEADERS

Struggle for Pennant in American Association Already Landed by Various Managers.

The struggle in the American association for the championship pennant is already over according to the claims of the various managers, as given below:

Hugh Duffy: It's a cinch.

Joe Cantillon: The flag is already pinned to my piano.

Jack Tighe: Really, it's a shame to take it.

Jimmy Burke: After deep thought and careful consideration I can freely predict that the A. A. championship banner will float in Indianapolis next fall.

Charles Carr: There's nothing to it but the Blues. The flag has already been ordered from my sporting goods house.

Topsy Hartsel: My Mack style of battle will cop for sure.

Mike Kelley: Ditto, only more emphatic.

Bill Friel: The same.

Rival in Points.

Certain cities overshadow all rivals in certain departments of play. Great or New York, as a starter, is well fitted for first basemen, with Chase, Daubert and Merkle. Boston can boast of two staunch outfielders in Speaker, Hooper and Lewis of the Red Sox, with Miller, Campbell and Jackson of the Braves. Chicago has always stood high with catchers in Shibe and Archer. And Philadelphia has the Athletics.

STAR FILLS BIG GAP

Reliable and Experienced First Baseman Aids St. Louis.

Stovall's Presence Expected to Inspire Other Players With Confidence to Make Them 20 Per Cent Better in Fielding.

Ask any member of the Browns to give one reason why Wallace's club should not finish last and he will answer "Stovall."

Not that the brown figure Stovall single-handedly will lead the club out of the depths of the sub-cellars, but the players to a man believe that the presence of Stovall on first will give each member of the infield sufficient confidence to make him a 20 per cent better ball player.

Since Tom Jones was traded to Detroit for Claude Russman there has been a big hole around the initial sack at Sportsman's Park. The players have had no one to throw to. True, there has been no less than twenty men tried out at first, but they all failed, and many of them were so putrid that the Browns' infielders lost confidence.

Such is not the case this season. Stovall is a great fielder and his presence will inspire Loprete, Hallinan and Austin with sufficient confidence to make them much better players.

I heaved a sigh of relief when I heard Stovall was to join our club," declares Jimmy Austin. "It's so encouraging to know that we have a real first baseman after having had so many guys dancing around that bag. Why do you know I have seen a game lost when the players are afraid to take any chance with their throws because of crude

As it beheld the proud new lofty ship Upon its westering way across the sea, "This is thy latest, greatest miracle, The triumph of thy science, art and all That skill thou'st learnt since forth the Norsemen fared Across these waters in their cockle shells, In dodging back and forth 'twixt storm and sea, Until at last, in this thy master work, Thou'dst go in safety and in pride, and boast Meanwhile of thine unparalleled achievement, Thy victory o'er my wanton will and whim! Ho, Little Man, behold! BUSINESS MEN WANT DUNLAP IN CONGRESS

Renick W. Dunlap, who established a reputation for doing things during the two terms he served the people of Ohio as state dairy and food commissioner, and who is now seeking the nomination for congressman from the Seventh district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election on May 21, is making one of his usual aggressive campaigns, and his friends are predicting that he will be an easy winner.

When Renick Dunlap was first elected to the office of state dairy and food commissioner the position was looked upon as one of minor importance, but soon revolutionized affairs in the office when he retired from the dairy office, and when he retired from the dairy and food commissioner's office it ranked foremost among the elective positions in the Buckeye state. He was the man who compelled the dealers to separate the water from the oysters, remove all varnish and poisonous colors from candy and to eliminate saccharin from food products.

And, to his credit, it may be said that the United States government soon followed suit in similar rulings under the federal law. He also made war on false labeling.

If Mr. Dunlap is nominated and elected to congress he will not be a stranger to his surroundings. His reputation as a strong advocate of food law enforcement has made him a well known figure to public men and the people all over the country. This would naturally give him a decided advantage in representing the people of the Seventh district, and his constituents would soon learn that their interests were being well cared for.

To some it occasions a little surprise to see the enthusiastic support given Mr. Dunlap's candidacy by the business men throughout the district, but when the matter is given a little thought it is easy to discern why they are for him simply because he is a

"LET US HAVE PEACE."

A great thought, (the offspring of a great man), at this time, subject of international importance throughout the civilized world, has been chosen for the title of a new musical publication,—the birth of a new anthem.

Adopted by the International Peace Congress of the World, dedicated by special permission to His Excellency, President Wm. H. Taft, the words and music are beautiful and impressive, interpreting the sentiment of International Peace to all mankind. Produced by Witmark and Sons, the creation of George Graff Jr. and Ernest R. Ball (producers of some of the best musical creations of the day), this beautiful number has been secured and is being featured in the program of J. A. Coburn's Greater Minstrels, and in the daily concerts of that popular band, Mr. Clayton L. Mix, Bus. Mgr. for the attraction which appears at the Empire Opera House next Monday, May 6, presented this paper with the words and music of this great song, and we publish the lyrics with pleasure for the benefit of the Herald's readers.

"Let Us Have Peace."

Lord God of love, let us have peace.

From wars vain sacrifice give us release.

Grant peace the victories war cannot know.

God of the ages, thy mercy show.

Hast thou not seen Thy fields and meadows green?

Red with the blood of men where war hath been?

Dost thou not know war's fearful endless roll?

The countless graves of those who paid the toll.

Teach us to learn to build, O Gentle Lord.

Not to destroy, but bend each wielded sword

Into a plow share, Thy fields to increase.

Lord of the lives to be, let us have peace.

God of the fatherless, we pray to Thee.

Father of all of us, hear Thou our plea.

Peace and good-will, Thine own word increase.

Lord God of love, let us have peace.

Dangerously Injured In Dynamite Explosion

Young Man Using Dynamite in Removing Hedge Fence Falls to Get Beyond Danger---Accident Occurs in Paint Township.

What may terminate in a fatal accident occurred on the N. S. Tway farm one mile northwest of Yatesville late Thursday evening, when Henry Hakes, a young man living near Sedalia, was dangerously injured by a charge of dynamite exploding before he succeeded in reaching a safe distance.

Hakes, assisted by other men, was engaged in removing hedge fence by the aid of dynamite, and he had "planted" two charges of the explosive, each charge having a short fuse. In lighting them the first fuse ignited at once but he experienced some delay in firing the second fuse. He just started to get away when the first charge exploded, throwing him into the air.

Young Hakes fell in a heap, and probably recover within a short time to the great horror of his companions the second charge exploded within a few feet of the unconscious man, throwing earth and pieces of the hedge upon him.

When his companions rushed to his assistance they found him unconscious and his face cut and bruised in a shocking manner. All aid possible was rendered until a physician arrived and took charge, restoring the young man to consciousness and dressing his wounds.

The young man was later removed to his home, where at last reports he was suffering intensely. Besides his face being lacerated, both eyes were swollen shut and blood poison is feared.

SALARY IS GRANTED FOR HUMANE OFFICER

A number of members of the Fayette County Humane Society appeared before the County Commissioners Saturday morning, asking for an appropriation of $25 per month for the Humane officer's salary, the statute providing that the minimum sum be that amount.

Prosecuting Attorney Pope Gregg, who is also attorney of the Humane Society, presented the matter to the Commissioners, who were in sympathy with the movement, but owing to lack of funds it was eventually asked that $15 be granted for the present, and this was done. Following the passage of a resolution granting the $15 per month, each of the Commissioners voluntarily contributed the $1 necessary to become members, and secured membership cards, expressing their hearty approval of the splendid principles for which the society stands.

Others present also became members and the society now has over 30 members.

Mothers' Day Sunday, May 12

Sunday, May 12th is Mothers' Day and will be observed throughout the nation as such. The second Sunday in May is always "Mothers' Day."

Services in honor of the mother, and in recognition of her faithfulness, gentleness and devotion to the home, are held in many of the churches and in most of the Sunday schools. The white carnation has been selected as the flower to be worn on the corsage, belt, or coat lapel on Mother's Day. No flower of the garden or field could be a happier choice than this to be worn as Mother's own flower. Pure as the drifted snow, spicy and fragrant, and possessing a lasting quality beyond that of lily or rose, the white carnation stands for all that Mother is to the family and the race.

Work For The Women

In the years to come more such leaders as Clara Barton may and probably will arise in the field of nursing and of succoring suffering humanity. But let no one imagine that this sphere is to bound the activities of women of talent. Nursing will remain particularly woman's work, but not her only work. Already the women who stand out in the public eye are bulking large in other fields. Miss Addams, the leader in social righteousness; Miss Tarbell whose keen pen has so splendidly exposed economic wrongdoing; Miss Shaw, who has spoken and toiled in every state for the enfranchisement of women, are among the foremost products of our changing economic and social conditions that affect women. Who shall measure Miss Addams' contributions to the moral growth of the republic? And who is so short sighted as not to see that those women are but pioneers? The whole great field of social endeavor now opened up by what is called the socialized conscience of the day, offers opportunity for women. Undreamed of realms for service are being explored. What more natural than in years to come the ministering leadership will fall more and more into the hands of those of Clara Barton's sex.

Regardless of their condition, these animals were driven into the city Friday and are said to have been sold for shipment. An investigation is said to be on foot.

The Vote In the South Is Delayed

Senator Davis Charges Employers Liability Bill is Loaded.

Washington, May 4.—The senate, after several remarkable speeches, failed again to reach a vote on the workers' compensation bill.

Senator Reed, concluding his speech, characterized the bill as a monstrosity, fraught with iniquity. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, in his first senate speech, freely criticized the American courts. Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas condemned the bill in unmeasured terms, declaring that he would resign his seat in the senate before voting for it.

Mr. Davis charged the railroad lobbyists with a persistent effort to have the measure railroaded through the senate. Asserting that President W. C. Brown of the New York Central lines and his claim agent had been sitting too "close to the throne" in the preparation of the bill, he declared the measure was "loaded."

first woman diplomat. A doctor of the University of Montevideo, Senorita Luisa, is now properly accredited by the government of Uruguay to the courts of Belgium, for the purpose of reporting particularly the scientific progress in Europe. Who could have foretold in 1861 a woman diplomat, and remained at large? To be immured within the walls of her home for life was then by universal consent a woman's destiny. That Miss Barton left hers to do a man's work, when no man was ready to take it up, was excusable only because she chose to move among the sick, the wounded and the dying. Today woman is free to minister as well to those of sound bodies and sound minds, to penetrate the inner mysteries of science, like Mme. Curie, to strive in almost any field in which her fancy takes her, and to be certain of success if she has but half the measure of the heroic qualities that so endeared Clara Barton to countrymen and country women alike.

BELIEFS OF NATIVES Will Enlarge

Mysterious Ceremony of Ju-Ju in West Africa.

Blacks Worship Smallpox Victims and Even Put Their Faces Against Patient to Obtain the Desired Scars.

Cape Colony, Africa.—Fetish travelers in West Africa are unfailingly struck by the curious terms of worship adopted by the superstitious natives. They illustrate the truth of the statement that every human being acknowledges in his heart some sort of worship to a deity, but the varieties in the dark continent are queer indeed.

Take a stroll through any African town or village and you will notice a score of little thatched huts with mud floors, on which are thrown a heap of ordinary stones. These huts are the fetish houses, to which the natives go and salam and ask their gods for various blessings after leaving offerings of beads, yams and nuts.

In some parts of Africa they even worship smallpox. The natives treat the infected patient with great reverence and even rub their faces on his body to obtain the desired scars. European administrators naturally regard this form of worship sternly. Only the other day a chief was suspended for having encouraged it.

The belief the native has in the efficiency of juju or witchcraft is touching in the extreme. Take the case of a man who believes his wife is not as faithful to him as she should be. He promptly proceeds to the witch doctor, and on payment of a fee varying in amount according to the required severity of the spell, requests that a juju shall be put on his hated rival. When one of these rivals dies—from a dose of ground glass or the thousand and one ways in which the crime can be committed out there—the triumphant lover exclaims, "Ha! See the power of the ju-ju," and the witch doctor adds more kudos to his reputation.

Funeral ceremonies, too, are carried out with the strictest regard to the appeasing of the gods. Supposing a man dies out in the bush, his comrades strap his corpse to a plank and hoist it on to the head of one of their number, who leads them in procession to his home with much beating of tom-toms and yelling, while another native runs in front, pulling the tail feathers out of a live chicken and scattering them broadcast. Arrived at the dead man's hut, the body is buried under the floor, and all the relations and friends come in and drink gin and feast in a beastly orgy for as many nights as the family has money to burn.

The president will visit Youngstown and Toledo and other places later in the month. The general plan is that his second tour of the state is to last four days, during which he will travel on a special train and cover as much territory as possible and care for as many out-of-door meetings as can be arranged.

Plans have been completed for bringing into Ohio as Taft spokesmen Senator Elihu Root of New York, Senator W. O. Bradley of Kentucky, Senator Townsend of Michigan, Secretary of State Knox, Representative Phil Campbell of Kansas, Job Hedges of New York and others of national repute. Ohio will respond with oratory in the next few weeks.

Another curious practice dating from very early times, is the playing of an instrument called the oboe. This is made of a piece of native wood or iron, shaped like a dagger, to which a long string is tied. When this is swung around and around rapidly it produces a truly blood curdling sound, like a long drawn wail. This sound is supposed to be the crying out of dead spirits, and only the men can safely look on the oboe and live. If a woman looks on it she dies—the native will tell you by spells, but in reality by being struck on the back of the head by the whirling piece of iron.

The African is very fond of processions, and a very common sight is a native dressed from head to foot in weird-colored clothing, with a wooden idol on his head, leaping in the air and waving his arms, followed by an admiring crowd of men, women and children. This apparition is held by common consent to be the spirit of a dead man paying a visit to the earth.

Gwinn Plant

The Gwinn Milling Company, of Columbus, has just awarded a contract for the erection of a new 500,000 barrel grain elevator on a lot adjoining the mammoth plant of the company on East Main street, Columbus.

The new elevator will cost approximately $150,000, and its erection is due to the extraordinary growth of the company's business in the past year or two.

It is planned that in case of a wheat shortage, the capacity of the plant would be sufficient to tide over the crisis and not cause the mills to close down.

The Gwinn company has been running at full capacity for a long time. Mr. O. E. Gwinn, who owns the plant, formerly conducted the Washington Milling company's plant here.

Among the most richly appointed and best equipped kitchens in the world that of the Shah of Persia is said to stand easily first. The utensils and the movable apparatus in it are said to be worth $1,000,000.

At one point near Lyons the Rhone, at times when the snow melts in Switzerland, runs through a defile that makes it the most powerful of European torrents. This waste force it is now proposed to turn into electricity.

Apparently satisfied with the operation of their trains by electricity between Stamford and New York thirty-four miles, the directors of the New Haven Railroad Company have announced that the system is to be extended from Stamford to New Haven, a distance of forty-one miles.

"And this," the dark Ironic Spirit mocked As it beheld the proud new lofty ship Upon its westering way across the sea, "This is thy latest, greatest miracle, The triumph of thy science, art and all That skill thou'st learnt since forth the Norsemen fared Across these waters in their cockle shells, In dodging back and forth 'twixt storm and sea, Until at last, in this thy master work, Thou'dst go in safety and in pride, and boast Meanwhile of thine unparalleled achievement, Thy victory o'er my wanton will and whim! Ho, Little Man, behold! I'd not waste e'en A tempest on thy paragon, but thus, Upon its first glad, confident adventure, With but a cast off fragment of my store Of power—thus to the bottom of the seas For evermore, with this thy latest marvel And with thee! Ho! Ho!"

The awful laugh Rang through the dreadful reaches of the Void. But lo! The calm and all sufficient answer Of our intrepid Northern race! With lips Drawn tight, they look with clear, dry eyes on doom, And so confront the end, there in the night That was to have for them no pitying dawn. (Their kind alone of all intelligence Feels pity.)

"The women and the children first, We stay."

No cry, no whimpering; and there, Up there, upon the dark, mysterious bridge, The grizzled captain, chief of all those victims Of its sublime, stupendous, bitter joke, But the exemplar of that race which knows How to aspire, achieve, and dare its wrath, And in the hour of failure, how to die.

"Put" Preaches Sermon Full of Sound Sense

God never votes for a "tight-wad." A stingy man is a misfit, even in a savings society. He who can but won't supply his wife and home with comforts and conveniences, will need asbestos clothes after death.

The wife, enslaved in drudgery while her husband is making money to put in the bank, ought to tell the truth to the tax assessor. This would make him reform or ask for divorce. Either proceeding would make the woman happy.

The man who makes home merely a place to eat, sleep, and wash will after while lose the power to love and the joy of living. He will dread to hear the patter of little feet, and the music of childish laughter. Life becomes a grind, and his company miserable.

Sweetheart, wife, and mother A beautiful Trinity, that ought to make men resolve to higher levels rise. To win her men will do and dare and accomplish things worth while.

Too oft, when the bohemian has waved the promises made, when winning and pursuing are forgotten, the Golden calf begins to fatten on work and worry. Mother's song is not as sweet and frequent as it used to be. The bloom in her cheek is fading, and ere the busy husband is aware, the happy side of other days is standing at the threshold of age.

BUSINESS MEN WANT DUNLAP IN CONGRESS

Renick W. Dunlap, who established a reputation for doing things during the two terms he served the people of Ohio as state dairy and food commissioner, and who is now seeking the nomination for congressman from the Seventh district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primary election on May 21, is making one of his usual aggressive campaigns, and his friends are predicting that he will be an easy winner.

When Renick Dunlap was first elected to the office of state dairy and food commissioner the position was looked upon as one of minor importance, but he soon revolutionized affairs in the office when he retired from the dairy office, and when he retired from the dairy and food commissioner's office it ranked foremost among the elective positions in the Buckeye state. He was the man who compelled the dealers to separate the water from the oysters, remove all varnish and poisonous colors from candy and to eliminate saccharin from food products. And, to his credit, it may be said that the United States government soon followed suit in similar rulings under the federal law. He also made war on false labeling.

If Mr. Dunlap is nominated and elected to congress he will not be a stranger to his surroundings. His reputation as a strong advocate of food law enforcement has made him a well known figure to public men and the people all over the country. This would naturally give him a decided advantage in representing the people of the Seventh district, and his constituents would soon learn that their interests were being well cared for.

To some it occasions a little surprise to see the enthusiastic support given Mr. Dunlap's candidacy by the business men throughout the district, but when the matter is given a little thought it is easy to discern why they are for him simply because he is a business man himself, a man who has made a success of everything he has undertaken. That is why a business man prefers him to a candidate chosen from the ranks of the attorneys or physicians. He believes the country needs more business men and fewer professional men in congress.

Mr. Dunlap's candidacy has received more than the ordinary complimentary mention from the press, among which is the following taken from the American Agriculturist, one of the foremost agricultural publications in the country.

It is a splendid outlook to see a man like Renick W. Dunlap, for example, an active candidate for congress from a district containing some of the best and finest farms to be found anywhere in the entire world.

Dunlap represents the new order of things. Born and bred on the farm, he is on the farm today a farmer. Seven years ago he finished a course of study at the Ohio Agricultural College and at graduation returned to his farm. He later represented his district in the general assembly, and so conspicuous was his record that he was nominated as dairy and food commissioner. Finishing that term he was re-elected by an increased vote, having led his ticket and being supported by the best class of citizens throughout the state regardless of section or political affiliation.

He may be opposed for the nomination and no doubt will be. If so, very likely his opponent will be a lawyer or doctor, neither type of which should be selected, because there is already an overabundance of that class in congress.

American Agriculturist has followed the career of Senator Dunlap through these many years that he has been in public life. It has watched every move he has made, and on not one single occasion has he made one bad step. At no time has he compromised his integrity, his character or the people whom he has represented.

If called and elected he will be a credit to his section to his state and to his country. Knowing Mr. Dunlap as we do, it is our belief that his district will select him to do this work, that he can do it nobly and efficiently, because of his splendid equipment for it. It is men like Dunlap the country needs.

"LET US HAVE PEACE"

A great thought, (the offspring of a great man), at this time, a subject of international importance throughout the civilized world, has been chosen for the title of a new musical publication—the birth of a new anthem.

Adopted by the International Peace Congress of the World, dedicated by special permission to His Excellency, President Wm. H. Taft, the words and music are beautiful and impressive, interpreting the sentiment of International Peace to all mankind. Produced by Witmark and Sons, the creation of George Graff Jr. and Ernest R. Ball (producers of some of the best musical creations of the day), this beautiful number has been secured and is being featured in the program of J. A. Coburn's Greater Minstrels, and in the daily concerts of that popular band. Mr. Clayton L. Mix, Bus. Mgr. for the attraction which appears at the Empire Opera House next Monday, May 6 presented this paper with the words and music of this great song, and we publish the lyrics with pleasure for the benefit of the Herald's readers.

"Let Us Have Peace."

Lord God of love, let us have peace. From wars vain sacrifice give us release.

Grant peace the victories war cannot know.

God of the ages, thy mercy show. Hast Thou not seen Thy fields and meadows green?

Red with the blood of men where war hath been?

Dost thou not know war's fearful endless roll?

The countless graves of those who paid the toll.

Teach us to learn to build, O Gentle Lord.

Not to destroy, but bend each wielded sword

into a plow share, Thy fields to increase.

Lord of the lives to be, let us have peace.

God of the fatherless, we pray to Thee.

Father of all of us, hear Thou our plea.

Peace and good-will, Thine own word increase.

Lord God of love, let us have peace.
